

Aristotelian Practical Philosophy in the Post-Reformation: The Scope of an Early Protestant Tradition

Manfred Svensson, Universidad de los Andes

The Protestant reception of Aristotle's practical philosophy has been massively neglected by historians of early modern intellectual history. In this talk, Manfred Svensson will discuss his findings from research into one of the literary genres in which this reception is manifest: Protestant commentaries on Aristotle's Ethics and Politics from 1529 to 1670.
